I know that some things in this world are not meant to be seen although these such things are only known as ether myth or legend but the one and only thing I never thought to come across are vampires commonly people would think of them as monsters that kill without shame but that all change when I met someone who just happens to be one of them and apparently there was something but there isn't come to be threatening that it put her in a state of fear the fact that it's a girl I just felt I had to do something to help her in any possible way that I can even if it means becoming one of them

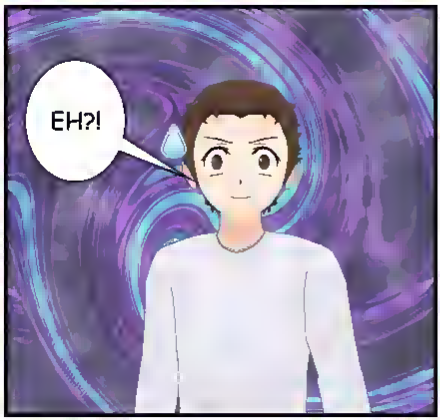
It was a nice warm sunny day after working two years at a janitorial service job I manage to save up enough money at first I was thinking of moving to Tokyo that you could build a million dollar mansion its in an area that the folks here call kanamasa Hmmm must have been a big mansion buuut I' ll check that out later

Note: this is just a before image this mansion no longer exist

I hope the house looks better than it did on the ad



EH?!

...could I have sworn it looked better the ad oh well a house is a house

And so as i go to unpack i notice there is a photo of a woman on top of an old mantle this must be the yasumory woman that the realistate mentioned about that and its was a family of three waw pretty! she laaks like a nice persan

One Month Later
Something feels off I need to check the area

SMASH

Hey Who`s
There? so your the guy who...

...Came from America
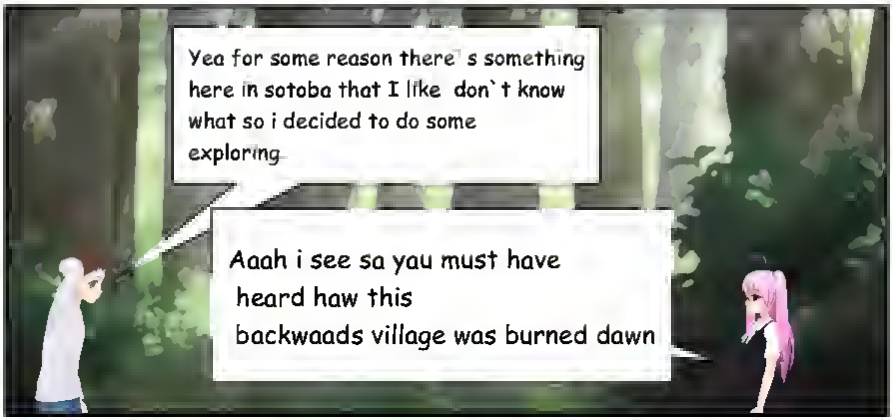
right?



Yea for some reason there`s something here in sotoba that I like don`t know what so i decided to do some exploring Aaah i see sa yau must have heard haw this backwaads village was burned dawn and by the way the name is miha, miha hiragi and sorry ta give yau a scare but these Humans tryed to kill me

I know others would think I'm crazy ar whatever comes to mind but in a sense others may see her as a demon or a monster but the crazy part abaut it is that wasn't how I see her, to me she was just another idvidual forced to hide in the dark away from every day society

So I would meet her everynight thinking how lonely she
